

Opportunity to take over a plant in France (Cholet city, in Pays-de-la-Loire region)

As part of an industrial reorganization, the tire manufacturer Michelin is looking for buyers for all or part of its Cholet plant..

Currently specialized in the production of car tires, the site has many advantages for hosting new future industrial projects. Its 955 employees are experienced and trained to meet the high demands of the automotive sector. The buildings allow for the implementation of numerous and complete processes as well as the identification of synergies between different activities on site. The presented opportunity does not include the takeover of activity or production volumes.
